

Chapter four (4), illustrated the findings of the study. The results are divided into several sections started with background analysis, normality test, hypothesis testing and measures of association. The chapter then described the main findings of the study, which are to estimate net tourism revenues, quantify environmental degradation that correspond to the revenues and finally monetize the externalities crossed its limits. Next, the results of quantifying and monetizing environmental are demonstrated. This chapter ends with a conclusion.

Finally, chapter five (5), basically concludes the whole thesis by discussing the findings and relates them to the study's objectives, hypothesis, past literatures in order to highlight their connections and emphasizing critical results. Consequently, the chapter also indirectly discussed the repercussions and contributions of the study to the body of knowledge. The study also put forth several recommendations based on the findings, proposing future research and finally concluding the thesis.
